TWO CENTS

FIRMS MUST BE REGISTERED TO HAVE STANDING IN COURT

Failure to Comply With Law Carries A Fine As Well As Loss Of Suit

MANY FIRMS NOT REGISTERED

By a decision filed on Saturday, October 22, in the Jefferson county court, Judge Charles Corbet upholds the recent law requiring the registration of partnerships and firms. The decision is far reaching and unless reversed by a higher court, will mean much to all those trading as firms and partnerships throughout the state.

In the case decided by Judge Corbet, Albert Ferraro & Co. sued the Pittsburgh & Shawmut railroad, claiming damages to the amount of $44.81 for the failure to transport a car of fruit to Conifer from Brookville, for the removal of a car at Allens Mills that was placed for the loading of potatoes and for a number of other transportation failures. When the case was called for trial at the recent session of the Jefferson county court the defendant brought out the fact that the plaintiff had not registered his concern prior to the bringing of the suit as the law requires firms who are partnerships to do. The case was placed on the argument list and taken off the trial list. The decision of Judge Corbet throws the case out of court, non-suits Mr. Ferraro, places the costs on him also and he will be debarred under the new law from collecting any part of his claim regardless of how just it may be.

The opinion of Judge Corbet is full and complete. Numerous decisions of the Supreme and Superior Courts of the state are quoted, all of which uphold the law, and debar firms not complying with the act the right to collect accounts by suing. It will be useless under the numerous decisions that have been made for firms not complying with the new law to attempt to collect by process of law any money that may be due them. The defendant has only to prove that the firm has not registered and that will end the case and place the costs on the plaintiff.

Not only are all such accounts of unregistered firms uncollectable, but all such firms are facing the possibility of a fine of $500, and each member of the firm may be sent to the penitentiary for one year. All that is needed is for someone to make an information and the partners of the firm would have to get out of the matter the best way they could, for there scarcely could be any defense.

Where the law will hit the most severely are the many wagon mines that are in operation. Many of these mines are operated by two or more parties as a partnership and very few are registered. If any of them are not registered, operating as partnerships, should sell coal and then try to collect for the same by law, they would be debarred under this decision from doing so.

The act of June 28, 1917, of the

FIRST ELECTION RETURNS

The first election returns were received this morning about 10 o'clock, from New Ashford, Mass. where the polls opened at six o'clock. There are 34 registered voters in the town, and all having voted by 8 o'clock the polls were closed and the vote counted. The returns showed Harding 28 and Cox 6.

EVIDENT ATTEMPT TO INJURE BOATMEN

As the steamer William Whigham of the Carnegie line was coming upstream at 2 o'clock Monday morning and while passing under the River-land bridge at the lower end of McKeesport, a heavy piece of oak timber was dropped from the bridge in such a way as to strike the hurricane deck just aft the pilot house, and directly over the hall or passageway in the cabin. A big hole was made in the roof and the piece of timber alighted on the floor of the cabin. The electric light plant was put out of commission for a time, as a number of wires were broken. No one was injured by the fall of the heavy block, which was very fortunate. No cause can be assigned for the act, but it is supposed to have been a malicious attempt on the part of some one to cause injury to the boat and possibly to some of the employees.

A similar accident occurred at the Donora bridge about a year ago, when a heavy piece of timber was dropped from the Donora river bridge as the steamer Clyde was passing under. The timber penetrated the cabin, just back of the pilot house but fortunately no one was hurt.

Officers and members of the crew of the Whigham cannot understand why anyone should attempt such a devilish trick, unless to satisfy some alleged grievance. Repairs to the roof of the Whigham are now being made.

October Coal Shipments Greater Than Expected

The coal shipments through Lock No. 4 for the month of October, although hampered by one holiday at the beginning and extremely heavy fogs during the past few weeks, were extra heavy, the totals in coal and coke amounting to 38,283,800 bushels, or 1,454,785 net tons, leading the month of September by 2,423,150 bushels.

A steady increase in coal shipments from month to month has been a noticeable feature throughout the year, and the remaining months of November and December bid fair to keep up, if not pass, the records made in previous months.

Several new and noticeable features in October's traffic were observed, one being the shipment from the upper end of the river by packet of 110 head of sheep. Not for years has there been a shipment of this kind by river. Another feature was the shipment of 15 tons of steel rails going down and 115 tons being shipped to up river points.

The records show that the month of October was the driest in eleven years, the rainfall being but 1.76 inches while the corresponding month last year was noted for its dampness, there being a total of 6.42 inches of rainfall. The first snow this year was on the 29th of October.

The following traffic record furnished by Lockmaster Sweeney shows the shipments in detail.

Going down—Lockings 635, steamers, 366 boats and barges 2,053 rafts 1, other craft 17, coal 38,233,000 bushels, coke 50,800 bushels, steel rails 27 tons, iron products 35 tons, timber 300 cubic feet, lumber 20,000 board measure, general merchandise 2,966 tons, live stock 116 head, passengers 37.

Going up—Lockings 595, steamers 355, boats and barges 1,951 other craft 12, coal rails 115 tons, other iron products 1,503 tons, sand 80,000 bushels, gravel 125,000 bushels, lumber 40,000, general merchandise 990 tons, farm dairy and orchard products 10 tons, live stock 28 head, passengers 34.

REAL ESTATE BOARD IS A POSSIBILITY

Real estate men in this section of the Monongahela valley are said to be interested in the forming of a Real Estate Board, that will take in real estate dealers in Donora, Monongahela, Monessen and Charleroi. The movement was begun at the suggestion of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, which, by the way of showing their interest, sent A. J. Kelly, Jr., Robert Coyle and C. Pfordt up to Donora, to speak at a meeting of real estate men held last Tuesday evening.

The organization, if formed, will have as its purpose the protecting of all interests that real estate dealers have in common, the looking after civic and community interests, legislative matters, the fixing of fees for real estate transactions and matters of a similar nature. Preliminary measures were taken toward bringing the matter to the attention of real estate men in the other three towns with a view of forming a real estate board.

DOUBLE BOWLING BILL AT ELKS TONIGHT

In the Elks' Bowling league last night the Misfits took two out of three games from the Oilers. The Misfits put the skids under the Oilers in the first two games, but in the final contest the Oilers managed to put some sand on the track and overhaul and pass the Misfits. Tonight there is a big double bill on the program. The regular scheduled game is between the Devil Dogs and the Champs, while a postponed game between the Misfits and Champs will also be played. First game starts at 8:30. Score:

Claim Gigantic System Of Graft Has Extended all Along the Line

"FIXED" BY THE USE OF MONEY

A special telegram to the New York Herald of date of October 29, from Washington, says that the Department of Justice officials have information which indicates that more than thirty car distributors in different sections of the country have been receiving bribes for displacing and placing cars in the interest of favored corporations and individuals.

The officials are convinced that a gigantic system of graft has extended from the soft coal mines along the lines of some of the coal carrying railroads to the piers, the dumps and the tidewater pools and that there have been involved in its ramifications clerks, inspectors, dumpers and many of the minor officials of the common carriers, who are believed to have been "fixed" by the illegal use of money.

Those assertions are warranted by admissions made by Gibbs L. Baker, one of the best known of attorneys who have specialized in law in its relation to coal production and traffic. Mr. Baker is general counsel for the Wholesale Coal Trade Association of New York and to the Tidewater Coal Exchange, which controls the soft coal pooling at a number of Eastern ports.

The colossal system of graft through which coal speculators have coined millions of profit at the expense of the consuming public included not only freight train conductors, division officials and local agents of the railroads at points which ordinarily would be considered of minor importance. The trail leads higher up. It is pretty well established that there has been an illicit traffic in forged car permits and preferential orders not unlike that which has been rife in the illicit whisky traffic conducted through forged revenue stamps and spurious permits for the removal of liquor from bond.

Since the recent action of the mine operators of the country in Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Baker is hopeful that the joint efforts of the whole body of mine owners and operators, the railroads and Interstate Commerce Commission will be successful in exposing such unfair practices as have scandalized the handling of coal at the mines and on the rail, and will at least partly eradicate the glaring evils of the coal business.

CLERGYMEN AND ACTORS.

Ecclesiastical prejudice against actors as such, without regard to their individual characters or the quality of their work, is less noticeable than it once was, but is still marked enough to add interest to two old stories lately brought to light. About fifty years ago Joseph Jefferson called on the rector of a prominent church in New York to arrange for the funeral of a friend of his, a well-known actor, who had died. The clergyman demurred, pointing out that the people of his congregation were of the highest respectability and expressing the belief that the funeral of an actor at his church would not be appropriate. But—he suggested—there was "a little church around the corner" where the funeral service of an actor could be performed without objection. Thereupon Joseph Jefferson drew himself up and said as only he could say: "Now, God bless the little church around the corner." An account of this interview found its way into the newspapers and in no great while the Little Church Around the Corner was blessed with a continuing fame. It would not otherwise have enjoyed.

The other story is of a prominent clergyman who had refused to dine where Edwin Forrest was a guest, but later met him at a banquet where a number of clergymen attended. At the end there were cigars and doubtless there had been wine—for it was more than sixty years ago. At any rate in the good feeling and absence of frosty reserve the suggestion that each clergyman recite the Lord's Prayer as he thought it should be recited was adopted. When the ministers had made an end Edwin Forrest was asked to recite the prayer and responded "so elegantly and feelingly that tears stood in the eyes of every one in the room." The clergyman who had refused to break bread at the same table with "a theatrical person" and who now warmly congratulated "Mr. Forrest" was struck dumb when he learned that he was grasping the hand of the famous actor, and still more amazed when Forrest said to him: "I have recited the Lord's Prayer daily since, as a little child, I learned it at my mother's knee, and each day I have tried to improve so as to do it justice."

SWAT 'EM.

A memorable episode in "Tristram Shandy" concerns itself with Uncle Toby and the fly. After his nerves had long been saved upon by the incessant gyrations and buzzing of the insect, Uncle Toby finally captured his tormentor, but then, instead of talking his revenge, he opened the window and said: "Go little fly. There is room in this wide world for both thee and me." Doubtless much sentimentality of a sort was traceable to Uncle Toby's magnanimous act during the greater part of the two and a half centuries after Sterne wrote his classic. But if any consideration for flies has remained in our generation, it has received some pretty severe jolts from the pronouncements of science showing that flies are the ever-busy distributors of poisons producing the so-called filth diseases. In 1907 a campaign against the housefly was started by Greater New York, published by the Merchants' Association, and the current issue of that periodical devotes pages to reports from many parts of the country as to whether or not there has been a noticeable diminution of the dangerous little pests. Apparently some success has been achieved, there being greater accomplishment in urban than in rural communities.

Attention is called to the fact that, though there are fewer flies now than in summer, now is the time, in the cooler sections at least when they can be swatted more easily and with more purpose. For now they are numb from the chill air and can be more readily entrapped; and, though they are comparatively few, every one of them is a possible progenitor of a million offspring next summer. The old saying "he would n't kill a fly" is no longer justification to human kindness of the same and genuine sort Uncle Toby to the contrary, the proper thing to do is to swat 'em early and often.

SILENT OBSERVING.

Writing of America's detachment from world affairs, the Paris Matin says: "To the meetings at London, Paris, San Remo and Spa, she sends us a silent observer. He listens, and has not the right to speak for the greatest people on earth. Whoever is elected President must not remain a silent observer. The silent observer has already made a name for himself in history. His name is Pontius Pilate."

Though there is point in this, it is pertinent to remark that the silence of those who, like Pontius Pilate, do not know what to say, is far better than much and confused speaking to no purpose. Among the spokesmen or supposed spokesmen for America during recent weeks and months there are some who, so far as they have been intelligible at all, have struck a new, discordant or contradictory note about every Tuesday and Friday, and who have been found on every conceivable side of a subject within thirty days. If Pontius Pilate had had to listen to them, he would hardly have been contented to stop with his far famed query: "What is truth?" He might even have asked what they were really driving at; if they knew what they were talking about, why they were not more definite and clear; and if they were sincere, why did they not stay out for five minutes. We can not admire a man who washes his hands and stands from under during a crisis, but there are times when we can excuse the man who stops his ears.

BE CAREFUL.

The automobile is a deadly instrument when handled carelessly. Thomas McMillan, of Harrisburg, after braving the perils of the rail as a locomotive engineer under all sorts of conditions and in all manner of weather, day and night, for twenty-five years, came through safely only to be in an automobile accident.

Brigadier General Rush C. Hawkins, commander of the famous Hawkins' Zouaves, went through the Civil War from start to finish and took part in many bloody battles, only to lose his life in front of an automobile near his New York home.

If you drive an automobile, be careful, as you regard your own safety and that of your fellows.

When you cross a street afoot, watch your step.

The world never moved so fast before. We have winter ice on the 4th of July, spring vegetables on Christmas; we buy our straw hats in February and our felt hats in August; we get our magazines a month ahead of time. If we telephone a man in San Francisco from New York he hears our voice about four hours before we speak and if some one in Japan sends us a cablegram tomorrow we get it today.

With the price of hides cut in half and shoes reduced 10 per cent as a starter, Holland's dream of selling his wooden footwear is likely to be given up.

Nobody at this distance expected to hear that British Columbia had condemned its prohibition law by a large majority, more women voting than men. You never can tell.

Kipling, who held that the female of the species is deadlier than the male, will be interested in the report that the chief executioner at Moscow is "a beautiful girl."

BREAK RECORDS AT THE PITTSBURGH STEEL

The Pittsburgh Steel company's open hearth department for the month of October broke all its previous records in the way of production, with a total of 62,000 tons. This department has had some big runs in the past, but the record of October was the best it has yet made. The blooming mill also made quite a record, exceeding that of any blooming mill in the country, when heating capacity and roll changes are taken into consideration. During the month it was necessary to make 77 roll changes.

AN OVERBURDENED WIFE

If the work that women do and the pains the sufferer could be measured in figures, what a terrible array they would present! Through girlhood, childhood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness, which are telltale symptoms of organic derangements which "Vida E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound"—made from roots and herbs—can undoubtedly correct. Women who suffer should not give up hope until they have given it a trial.

Rubbing It In.

Patient—Doctor, the only thing that did my rheumatism any good was spirits of turpentine, which my daughter rubbed on my neck. A friend told me about it and it gave me so much relief that I began to read up about it to see what it was. First, I found that it was good for pains in the back, then for sprains, and finally I came to the conclusion that it was good for almost anything. And then I understood why most doctors can make a living.—London Ideas.

Empty Cans Means of Great Harm.

Dogs and cats have been seriously hurt by forcing their heads into empty cans that have contained fish, meat, or soup. Sometimes they are not able to free themselves. Their terror is pitiable, and if not found they may run into some hiding place and die a miserable death. It would be easy to see that a can when emptied is pounded out of shape so that no animal can get its head into it. To do this might save great suffering.—Friends and Helpers.

To Find the Gear of Bicycles.

To find the gear of a bicycle, divide the number of teeth in the front sprocket by the number of teeth in the rear sprocket and multiply by the diameter in inches of the rear wheel. For example: Twenty-one teeth in the front sprocket, seven teeth in the rear sprocket and a 28-inch wheel. Twenty-one divided by seven equals three; three times twenty-eight is eighty-four—the gear of the bicycle.

Code of Politics.

The code of politics is very simple and may be expressed in two sentences. The man who expects to remain a factor in politics must be loyal to his friends. Once he has given his word he must keep it regardless. These are the articles of faith, and they have been the superstructure of every political dynasty, great or small.—Jay D. House in the Saturday Evening Post.

Remarkable Endurances.

A man fifty years old, has walked from London to Yarmouth in less than twenty-eight hours. This distance is one hundred and twenty-four and a half miles. It would take a very good horse to equal such a feat. Another man, C. A. Harriman, tramped a distance of over one hundred and twenty miles without resting.—London Mail.

NOW EAT LIGHT BREAKFASTS

English People, Since the War, Are Said to Have Abandoned Heavy Morning Meal.

The hearty breakfast which everybody in England ate for centuries has gone out of fashion, a correspondent of the New York World writes. Steaks and chops as an early morning meal, which the French regarded as a horrible British habit, disappeared some time ago. Now scarcely any one eats porridge, fish, ham and eggs and marmalade for breakfast. Both those who have leisure and those who work eat smaller breakfasts and larger lunches.

The clubs and restaurants now provide big lunches. Many serve a luncheon of four or five courses—soup, fish, joints, sweets and cheese—and at a comparatively moderate price. Busy men find they can work better after a light breakfast—boiled egg or a thin rasher of ham or bacon. But they satisfy their appetites fully at luncheon, giving an hour or even more to enjoy their food in comfort.

With women, too, the hearty luncheon is becoming popular. They no longer are satisfied with a cup of coffee and some buttered cakes. Girl stenographers and clerks take a substantial meal of meat and pudding. Probably they have done a good morning's work on a cup of tea and a slice of bread and butter. So they have learned to appreciate and enjoy a luncheon that sustains and upbuilds them.

NEW SPORT ON SUBMARINES

Fishing With Baited Lines Is Now Employed to Relieve the Tedium of the Life.

Fishing with inverted lines from the decks of American submarines is the newest pastime among members of their crews operating in the Pacific ocean from the Los Angeles submarine base, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The boats make frequent practice trips between Los Angeles and Santa Catalina Island. The water in this area averages about 50 feet in depth, and is one of the finest fishing grounds of the Pacific coast. Frequently the boats dive to the bottom, and lie there with their motors shut off while practicing submarine signaling, torpedo-routine and the like.

The upside-down fishing is done in a very simple manner. Prior to making a dive the men arrange their lines on the deck rails of the submarine. The hooks are baited and are strung out on the decks to be carried upward when the boat dives, by a float attached near the hook.

Since any fish that takes the bait can not be removed until the boat comes to the surface, the lines are fastened to the deck rail by coil springs. This practically eliminates the chance of losing the fish by its breaking the line or tearing the hook out of its mouth.

Franklin Medal to Sir Charles Parsons.

The Franklin medal has been awarded to Sir Charles Parsons "in recognition of his epoch-making success in the development and the construction of the steam turbine which has revolutionized the art of steam engineering, particularly in regard to the propulsion of mercantile and naval vessels, and the driving of electrical generators." Not many people know of the courageous struggle of Sir Charles in the early days of his invention, and that he separated from his original partners owing to their becoming discouraged to "carry on." Engineering, in speaking of the award, says: "The work of Sir Charles Parsons has halved the cost of producing electric power and reduced in still greater proportion the capital cost of engineering machinery.—Scientific American.

Capsules and Fly Screens

Among modern inventions that make for comfort a subscriber lists as two of the most important "the capsules" now used for fly-screens in automobiles, and the wire screens used to protect our houses from disagreeable insects. Quinine, he says, was in the days of the Civil War the great medicine of the army, and it was taken by the troops with nothing to disguise its bitterness. All that is past. The well-screened house with its freedom from mosquitoes and flies, was unknown to the good old days, and it alone is enough to make modern life worth the living.—From the Outlook.

The greatest iron ore deposits known are thought to have been located near Koursk, Russia, by magnetic disturbances of intensity unequalled elsewhere. These disturbances were studied several years by the late Prof. Ernst Leyst, a Russian, and his records are said to have been rescued and taken to Sweden. Two Swedish observers find that two immense parallel deposits of magnetic iron ore are indicated. These seem to have about equal length, 57 miles or more, and to be separated about 40 miles.

British Ship Gets Record.

The Empress of Britain, the first transatlantic oil-burning vessel to pass the St. Lawrence, arrived recently at Quebec from Liverpool in five days and twenty-four hours, breaking all previous records between those ports. It was an maiden trip as an oil-burner and she clipped six hours from her best previous time. The expense of reconditioning her as an oil-burner equalled the cost of her original construction.

THROAT SORE?

Then Watch Out for Diphtheria or Tonsillitis

The doctor often takes out unhealthy tonsils, because he knows they are liable to poison the system with deadly diseases. He will tell you that whenever bacteria inflame the membrane of the throat or tonsils, and make it feel sore, a danger signal is being flashed to your brain through the outraged nervous system.

You will find Krew-Pina excellent for quick relief in all cases of inflammation. For sore throat, apply to the throat and massage gently. Also, put a pinch in each nostril. Do this before retiring; then, draw the bed clothes up about the nose, funnel-wise and inhale the medicinal vapors.

Krew-Pina is an ointment made up entirely of simple home remedies such as Oil of Pine and other volatile oils in a petroleum base—absolutely harmless and of wonderful alleviative and healing properties, owing to the scientific nicety with which the ingredients are proportioned. Specially adapted to household use in cases of colds, croup, bronchitis, neuritis, whooping cough, sores, stitiches, cuts, bruises, sprains, etc. 30c and 60c jars with directions—at your druggist's.

BREAKS FAVORED UNIONTOWN TEAM

The Uniontown Herald of Monday speaks as follows of the football game played Saturday last between the Charleroi High and the Uniontown High teams, which resulted in a victory for the Fayette county boys:

"In the best high school football game seen in Uniontown for a number of years the Uniontown high school eleven on Saturday defeated the Charleroi team by a score of 28 to 3. Uniontown had to fight for every touchdown and both teams fought hard for every bit of ground gained. It was only by getting the breaks when they meant scores that Uniontown came out victorious.

The game Saturday was marked with many thrills. The first of these came early in the game. After receiving the kickoff, Charleroi marched down the field close to the local goal, where they were held for three downs. On the fourth down Lee, the visiting right end, was called into the backfield and drop kicked the pigskin over the crossbar from the 25-yard line and from a difficult angle. It was the first drop kick scored against Uniontown this season.

"The backs of both teams played brilliantly, but it was easily seen that to gain ground, all that was needed was to hit either of the opposing lines. Uniontown took the greater advantage of this and consequently won the game."

Uniontown scored its points as follows: Seven in the second quarter, fourteen in the third and seven in the fourth.

Officials were Darby, referee, and Sansone umpire.

GIRL'S ASSAILANT ARRESTED AND JAILED

Harry McMillan, of Ottawa, Canada, was arrested last Tuesday afternoon by officers Jerry Byers and H. H. Baer, of the Monongahela Railway, while purchasing a ticket at the union station in Brownsville, and given a hearing Wednesday morning before Justice Garlotts, on a charge of assaulting Miss Margaret M. Burns, third trick operator, in the Luzerne tower, a short distance above Brownsville, on the morning of October 5. The prisoner was identified by Miss Burns as well as by another operator, who was in an adjoining room in the tower, and the accused was held for court. Being unable to secure bond he was taken to jail at Uniontown.

WESTMORELAND COUNTY DUE FOR CLEAN-UP

County detective Paul M. Feighner of Westmoreland county, assisted by a detail of the state police, raided Arthur Ziskind's meat market in West Newton on Tuesday night last, confiscating about 75 quarts of real honest looking bonded whiskey. Ziskind gave bail for a hearing on Thursday, November 4. The arrest is believed to be the forerunner of a general clean-up of illicit liquor selling which will be made under the Brooks law.

Miss Hazel Castor, designer and trimmer of the Campbell department store, Pittsburgh, has taken charge of the department as millinery buyer.

PAINTING IS SAID TO BE OUT OF FASHION

Just as girls all over the country have grown accustomed to defending themselves for the use of make-up on the ground that "everyone in New York does it," why, cruel New York this season decides against the use of color addition to one's own features. Barely enough powder to keep one's nose from shining will "get by," but that's all.

WOMEN ARE SERVING ON ELECTION BOARDS

The commissioners of Westmoreland county, on Saturday last, granted women's requests that they be allowed to serve on election boards and that they be entitled to have watchers for each of the 195 polling places in Westmoreland county. Certificates were issued to women watchers in many districts.

MONONGAHELA FACTORY CLOSED FOR REPAIRS

Bank assets of $53,000,000.00 ought to take a country through almost any sort of crisis.

After a rain in the deserts of the southern part of the United States there is a scent in the air which is very much like spices. This odor comes from the greasewood bush, which grows in great quantities all over the dry lands at certain altitudes. This shrub is dark green, and when its leaves are dampened by the rain, they send out into the air this very agreeable perfume, which makes rain in the desert even more pleasant.

Bower-Bird's Wooing

A cynical method of enticing a hesitating partner into the bonds of matrimony is furnished by the bower-bird, which builds a structure of sticks formed into a kind of passage or avenue and beautifully ornamented with feathers and shells. On its completion the would-be bridegroom brings the bird of his choice to inspect his fine establishment and entices her to share it.

Queer Cradles for Babies

An infant in Guinea is usually buried in sand up to its waist whenever the mother is busy, and this is the only cradle it ever knows. The little lamp on the other hand, ferres most luxuriously in its mother's shoe. These lamp shoes are big affairs of skin stuffed with soft moss, and can be hung on a peg or tree branch safely out of the way.

The Zuyder Zee

Large as is the Zuyder Zee, it is a comparatively modern feature in the scenery of Holland. It is said to have been formed toward the end of the thirteenth century, after a great storm when the sea swept inland through the isthmus, thus connecting Friesland with northern Holland, and converted the Flevo lake into a sheet of salt water.

Wasted Strength

Samson is not the only man who has trifled with his strength until it was gone; not only the one who has wasted it in vain and useless ways, believing in his heart that he might trifle with it as he willed, and still not lose it. Many another from some prison house of weakness looks back at his own folly in wonder.

Helps Thread the Needle

Those having defective eyesight will save time when threading a sewing needle if they use a pocket flashlight. Flash it behind the eye of the needle and immediately your needle will be threaded. Keep the flashlight in the machine drawer, where it will always be handy.

Explaining the Situation

Frederick was not popular with the other boys, as he was of a quarrelsome disposition, and Tony shunned him wherever possible. When asked about it he replied, "Well, he's always looking for trouble, and if I'm not, I've just got to stay where he ain't. That's all."
